

REPORT : A Decade of Little Progress Implementing Olmstead: Evaluating Federal Agency Impact After 10 Years

(pdf)

Washington (December 1, 2009) - 10 years after the U.S Supreme Court declared that it is a violation of the civil rights of Americans with disabilities to require a person to be institutionalized in order to receive necessary disability supports and services, if these services are more appropriately provided in the community, there has been almost no progress reducing the numbers of Americans with disabilities, nationwide, who live in institutions. This report calls for more urgent federal action to enforce the Olmstead mandate.
