

Position Profile Packet
Executive Director
National Association of Councils on Developmental Disabilities
Washington, DC

The National Association of Councils on Developmental Disabilities (www.nacdd.org), based in Washington DC is seeking a dynamic, collaborative, and innovative Executive Director. NACDD is the national association for the 56 Councils on Developmental Disabilities (DD Councils) across the United States and its territories. The DD Councils receive federal funding to support programs that promote self-determination, integration and inclusion for all people in the United States with developmental disabilities.

Our vision for this position is an Executive Director who will use their leadership and relationship skills to challenge us to advance in creative ways, fostering the leadership of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and establishing and maintaining effective relationships with a broad array of stakeholders.

Our next Executive Director will have a consensus-building leadership style with a track record of building and maintaining strong working relationships with internal (staff, board and membership) and external partners (Legislators, funders, partner organizations), and will possess strong and effective communication skills, including excellent written, active listening, and public presentation skills.

Our next Executive Director also will provide exemplary service in our key strategic priorities:

	Supporting Councils
	Strengthening advocacy
	Championing policies and funding for Councils
	Enhancing internal capacity and organizational administration

The Organization

The National Association of Councils on Developmental Disabilities (NACDD) is a member-driven organization consisting of 56 Councils representing states, territories, and the District of Columbia. NACDD represents the diverse interests of Councils and serves as their national voice. NACDD's purpose is to support Councils in their role of: (1) promoting the interests and rights of people with developmental disabilities and their families, (2) Being change agents to create positive systemic change with and on behalf of persons with developmental disabilities, and (3) implementing the Developmental Disabilities Assistance and Bill of Rights Act.

NACDD was established:

- To be a respected, effective voice for the Councils.
- To promote and enhance support for and viability of the Councils.
- To provide timely, useful training and technical assistance, including information and services to member Councils that emphasizes best practices and promotes excellence.
- To advance leadership development for board, committee and Council leaders.

About the Councils

Councils on Developmental Disabilities were formed under the Developmental Disabilities Assistance and Bill of Rights Act. The purpose of Councils is to engage in advocacy, capacity building, and systemic change activities consistent with the purpose of the Act and contribute to a person- and family-directed, culturally and linguistically competent comprehensive system of community services, individualized supports and other forms of assistance. The goal of the Act and the Councils is to enable individuals with developmental disabilities to exercise self-determination, be independent, be productive and be integrated and included in all facets of community life.

The Councils are charged with identifying the most pressing needs of people with developmental disabilities in their state, territory or district to develop innovative and effective ways to meet those needs in a manner that upholds the human and civil rights of people with developmental disabilities. Each Council develops a state plan that identifies specific five-year goals for its state. Councils implement their state plans by conducting activities such as: outreach, training, technical assistance, supporting and educating communities, interagency collaboration and coordination, barrier elimination, systems design and redesign, coalition development and citizen participation, informing policymakers, and demonstration of new approaches to services and supports. Areas of emphasis include: quality assurance, education and early intervention, child-care, health, employment, housing, transportation, recreation, and other services available or offered to people with developmental disabilities.

An 11-member Board of Directors governs NACDD. Current staffing includes five positions. The organization's current budget is $2 million. Funding sources include membership dues, conferences, grants, contracts and contributions. More information on NACDD is at www.nacdd.org.

The Position

Reporting to the Board of Directors, the Executive Director will provide overall leadership to support and strengthen the work of the Councils, coordinating the Councils' national advocacy efforts with and on behalf of people with developmental disabilities and their families. The Executive Director manages the programmatic and administrative operations of NACDD to accomplish the goals and objectives of the Association as determined by the Councils.

More information can be found in NACDD's strategic plan.

Key Responsibilities

Reporting to the Board of Directors, the Executive Director will provide overall leadership and management of the organization and staff and work closely with the Board and Councils to chart the future goals and direction of the organization. The successful candidate will:

- Effectively and accessibly talk about and model NACDD's mission, values, and contributions to staff, Board of Directors, Councils, funders, people with disabilities and families, policymakers, and the larger community.
 - Advocate for and with Councils to ensure equitable and adequate funding and resources from funders to Councils.
